Olenka Collection

The image shows a close-up of a stack of folded textiles. The top layer is a light pink or peach-colored fabric with a frayed edge. Below it are several layers of green fabric in different shades, from a muted sage to a darker forest green. The textures appear to be a mix of fine weaves and coarser, more rustic-looking fabrics. The lighting is soft and directional, coming from the upper left, which creates gentle shadows and highlights the textures of the materials.
